Managing workplace diversity

Lecture abstract: We're going to be looking into managing workplace diversity from the perspective of Organizational Behavior. What is diversity? How it is defined in that theory? You are going to have lots of interesting conversations about this.

Biography: Chikae Naito's research interests include diversity management, faultlines, and career management. She received her Ph.D. in Commerce from Waseda University in Japan in 2020. She then served as an assistant professor and associate professor at the Faculty of Global Studies at Reitaku University in Chiba Prefecture, and is currently an associate professor at the Faculty of Economics at Musashi University in Tokyo. Since 2025, she has been a member of the "Employment of Persons with Disabilities and Corporate Value" committee of JEED, an affiliate of Japan's Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare.
